JURY TRIAL DEMANDED

1 Plaintiff ZOLTAN NAGY complain and allege as follows:

2
3 PARTIES AND JURISDICTION

4 1. Plaintiff ZOLTAN NAGY (“Plaintiff”) is, and at all relevant times hereto, has been 5 a resident of the State of California.

6
7 2. Plaintiff is an immigrant to the United States, whose national origin is from 8 Hungary. Plaintiff speaks with a Hungarian accent.

9
10 3. Plaintiff is informed and believe and thereby allege that Defendant UNITED 11 SCHUTZHUND CLUBS OF AMERICA (“Defendant” or “USCA”) is a company that conducts 12 business in the State of California, but whose principal place of business is located in Arnold,
13 Missouri. Defendant USCA is an organization that hosts, sponsors, and operates German Shepherd 14 working dog shows, competitions, and trials.

16 4. Plaintiff is informed and believe that Defendant JIM ALLOWAY (“Defendant” or 17 “Alloway”) is an individual who was, at all relevant times, an officer, director, supervisor, or 18 managing agent of Defendant USCA. Defendant Alloway is a resident of the State of Ohio.

19
20 5. Defendant USCA was an employer in this judicial district, within the territory of the 21 Northern District of California, San Francisco Division.

22
23 6. This Court has jurisdiction and venue over this action in that Defendant USCA
24 employed Plaintiff Zoltan Nagy within this judicial district in the State of California, and Plaintiff
25 Zoltan Nagy is seeking relief under federal law, including the Fair Labor Standards Act, 29 U.S.C.
26 Sections 207 et seq, and Title VII of the Civil Rights Act, 42 U.S.C. Sections 2000e et seq. This 27 Court further has jurisdiction over this matter, as there exists complete diversity of citizenship
28

1 between the Plaintiff and the Defendants, and the amount in controversy exceeds $75,000.00. This
2 Court has supplemental jurisdiction over any state law claims, in that they arose from the same
3 common nucleus of operative facts, as the federal claims.

4
5 7. Plaintiff has exhausted all necessary remedies prior to filing this action, including
6 obtaining a right to sue letter from both the California Department of Fair Employment & Housing
7 (“DFEH”), and the federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (“EEOC”). Plaintiffs are 8 filing this action within 90 days of receipt of the EEOC right to sue letter, and within one year of 9 obtaining the right to sue letter from the DFEH.

11 8. Unless otherwise indicated as acting in individual capacity, Plaintiff is informed and 12 believe, and thereby allege that each of the defendants herein were at all times relevant hereto, the 13 agents, representatives, servants and employees of the remaining defendants, and were acting at 14 least in part within the course and scope of such relationship, and that the wrongful acts alleged 15 herein were committed by such defendants, and each of them.

16
17 FACTUAL BACKGROUND

18 9. Plaintiff Zoltan Nagy has been a performance judge for all working dog breeds in 19 Schutzhund/IPO/IGP competitions and events for more than 25 years. During that time, Plaintiff
20 developed a very positive and unblemished reputation for being an experienced and outstanding
21 judge, who was well respected both in the United States and internationally. Plaintiff Nagy spent 22 thousands of hours in education, training, and experience to develop his reputation for being an 23 honest, trustworthy, and fair performance judge in the Schutzhund/IPO/IGP community, and he has 24 devoted a significant portion of his professional life to Defendant USCA.

25
26 10. Plaintiff was hired by Defendant USCA in 2015, as a Performance Judge, whose 27 duties and responsibilities included attending performance competitions, judging the participants, 28

1 conducting training of probationary judges and other members of USCA who attend competition
2 events, providing seminars on behalf of USCA, and attending required meetings and conference
3 calls. Additionally, Defendant USCA requires Plaintiff and other Performance Judges to attend the 4 USCA Judges College every two years, and complete annual training requirements, which consist 5 of USCA classes and other seminars.

7 11. Moreover, Plaintiff and other Performance Judges are required at all times to 8 promote the core values of Defendant USCA. Pursuant to Defendant's written policies and 9 procedures, Performance Judges, like Plaintiff, are considered "ambassadors" of the USCA, which 10 are required to positively promote the USCA at any event or gathering, and they are required to 11 serve as leaders in the organization through teaching and training at every level of the organization, 12 including regional events.

14 12. During the period of time that Plaintiff worked as a Performance Judge at USCA,
15 Defendant improperly classified Plaintiff and other Performance Judges as independent contractors,
16 instead of employees. Under California law, in order to classify Plaintiff as an independent
17 contractor, instead of an employee, Defendant USCA was required to establish three elements: (1)
18 the Plaintiff was free from direction and control in the performance of the work, (2) the Plaintiff 19 was performing work that is outside the scope of the usual course of the employer's business, and 20 (3) the Plaintiff is customarily engaged in an independently established trade, occupation, or 21 business that is of the same nature as the work performed for the employer, USCA. In this case,
22 Defendant USCA will be unable to establish any of these elements, as it treats its Performance
23 Judges as employees, instead of independent contractors. In summary, Defendant USCA directed 24 and controlled Plaintiff's work as a Performance Judge throughout his employment at USCA, and 25 the work that Plaintiff was performing for USCA was not outside the ordinary scope of USCA's
26 business. Furthermore, Plaintiff was not customarily engaged in any independently established 27 trade or occupation that is the same nature as the judging work performed by USCA, his employer.

1 13. Defendant USCA provides extensive direction and control to its Performance
2 Judges, including Plaintiff. Defendant USCA requires any potential judge to go through a hiring
3 process that is similar to an employee. Defendant USCA requires the Performance Judge to submit
4 an application, a resume, letters of recommendation, and a criminal background check. The judge
5 is also required to provide “vital statistics” for “insurance purposes.” Once hired by USCA, the 6 judge is required to serve as a Probationary Judge for a period of time, and, in order to pass the 7 probationary period, the judge is required to complete a practical and written examination. The 8 probationary judge’s name is then placed in the USCA’s publication to its members, so that any 9 members can lodge objections to the promotion of the judge to a permanent status.

10
11 14. Defendant USCA also maintains an extensive written progressive disciplinary 12 program for its judges. The judge is required to adhere to Defendant USCA’s written policies and 13 procedures, and the failure to do so results in progressive discipline for the judge. The progressive 14 discipline consists of a verbal warning, a written warning, suspension, and then termination of the 15 judge’s employment. Under the discipline program, the allegations against the judge are first 16 reviewed and considered by the Judges Committee, which is managed by the Director of Judges,
17 and, if the allegation is substantiated, it is then referred to the USCA Executive Board for review,
18 and potential disciplinary action.

19
20 15. Not only does Defendant USCA discipline judges in the course of the performance
21 of their duties, Defendant USCA has the authority to discipline judges who breach a perceived duty
22 of loyalty that is owed to the USCA. In order to become a Performance Judge, the judge, like the 23 Plaintiff, is required to positively promote USCA as an organization, and the judge must refrain
24 from engaging in any behavior that reflects poorly on the USCA. The USCA requires the judges
25 to act as “ambassadors” of its organization, and it does not allow any judges to work at events
26 unless the judge demonstrates positive character and integrity traits, including a lack of any felony
27
28

1 convictions. Defendant USCA also has a mandatory retirement program once the judge reaches
2 the age of 75 years old.

3
4 16. Defendant USCA also has a “Code of Conduct” that the judges must comply with 5 in order to work at any of the events. The Code of Conduct expressly provides that Performance
6 Judges are “representatives” of the USCA while judging, attending any recognized working dog
7 event, and while traveling on any USCA or working dog event business. The Code of Conduct
8 prohibits a Performance Judge from training or showing any other dogs “for money” and it does
9 not allow Performance Judges to work as professional working dog sports trainers or breeders, if a 10 substantial portion of their income would come from such practices. The Performance Judges are 11 further subjected to a strict “dress code” which results in discipline if the judge violates the dress 12 code requirements.

14 17. Defendant USCA also limits the work that Performance Judges can do outside of 15 the USCA organization. Performance Judges are required to attend and judge at least four events
16 per year, and they may not judge at other dog events that are not sanctioned by the USCA.
17 Defendant USCA further limits where the judge can work within the organization itself.
18 Performance Judges are not permitted to judge at their local clubs, and they may not preside over 19 any local events that are not sponsored by the USCA.

20
21 18. Defendant USCA further imposes an internal continuing education requirement on 22 its judges. The Performance Judges are required to attend the USCA Judges College at least every 23 two years. The judges are also mandated to pass yearly educational examinations, and attend 24 required seminars, meetings, and conference calls for training purposes. Performance Judges are 25 also required to provide training and seminars to other employees.

1 19. In summary, Defendant USCA directed and controlled all aspects of Plaintiff's work
2 as a Performance Judge throughout his employment at USCA, and the work that Plaintiff was 3 performing for USCA was not outside the ordinary scope of USCA's business. Furthermore,
4 Plaintiff was not customarily engaged in any independently established trade or occupation that is 5 the same nature as the judging work performed by USCA, his employer. Defendant USCA has 6 improperly misclassified Plaintiff as an independent contractor, instead of an employee.

7
8 20. For the past three years, during the period of time that Plaintiff was working as a 9 Performance Judge for Defendant USCA, Plaintiff was required to work more than eight hours in 10 one work day, but he did not receive any overtime compensation, in violation of California law.
11 During longer competitions and events, on several occasions Plaintiff worked more than 40 hours
12 in one work week, but Plaintiff did not receive any overtime compensation, in violation of federal 13 law.

15 21. For the past three years, Plaintiff was not provided with a minimum wage for a
16 significant amount of the work that Plaintiff performed, and, during this period of time, Plaintiff
17 was not provided with any itemized wage statements, in violation of California law.

18
19 22. Although Defendant USCA has misclassified its Performance Judges for years, this 20 current dispute started in May 2019.

22 23. Defendant USCA held its 2019 Working Dog Championship competition from May 23 2-5, 2019, in Boston. Plaintiff was assigned to work as a Performance Judge during this 24 competition, and he spent more than 40 hours in one work week, including traveling, to work at the 25 competition in Boston.

1 24. On May 2, 2019, Plaintiff was approached by Defendant Alloway, who criticized
2 the manner in which Plaintiff was doing his job with one of the helpers. Defendant Alloway was a
3 member of the USCA Executive Board, who had previously exhibited animosity towards Plaintiff
4 as an “immigrant” and a “foreign judge.” After a heated exchange, Defendant Alloway became 5 angry and told Plaintiff that he would never work as a judge “in this country” again.

6
7 25. Defendant Alloway was a supervisor in the workplace, who created a hostile work
8 environment for Plaintiff, based upon his national origin. Defendant Alloway would consistently
9 and pervasively make comments, jokes, and taunt Plaintiff for being an “immigrant” and a 10 “foreign” judge, and questioned how he could be allowed to judge dog competitions in the United 11 States.

13 26. Moreover, Defendant USCA considers itself to be a patriotic organization, who sets
14 different and additional standards for “foreign judges” and “foreign” members. Its official colors
15 in its bylaws are red, white, and blue, and at least one of its Executive Board members has an email
16 handle, “rebelyelle.”

18 27. Later that evening, after the heated exchange with Defendant Alloway, Plaintiff
19 returned to his hotel and requested to speak with the President of the Defendant USCA’s Executive 20 Board. During the meeting, Plaintiff made an internal complaint of bias and discrimination against 21 Defendant Alloway, and Plaintiff requested the President’s assistance. That same day, the President
22 assured the Plaintiff that he would talk to Defendant Alloway about the allegations of 23 discrimination and bias. The Director of Judges was also made aware of the Plaintiff’s internal 24 complaint of bias and discrimination against Defendant Alloway and this information was relayed
25 to Defendant Alloway.

1 28. Once Defendant USCA became aware of Plaintiff's internal complaint of bias and 2 discrimination, it failed to conduct any reasonable investigation into the allegations, and it failed to 3 take reasonable measures to ensure the conduct would not continue in the workplace.

4
5 29. Instead of taking reasonable measures to stop the discriminatory behavior,
6 Defendants elected to retaliate against the Plaintiff.

7
8 30. On or about May 7, 2019, only a few days later, Defendant Alloway prepared a 9 disciplinary report for the Judges Committee requesting that the Committee recommend the 10 implementation of unspecified discipline or adverse actions against Plaintiff for his alleged conduct
11 on May 2nd during the 2019 Championships. At the end of the report, Defendant Alloway wrote a 12 personal statement to the Committee to demonstrate why Plaintiff lacked the appropriate character
13 and integrity to be a Performance Judge. In his personal statement, Defendant Alloway encouraged 14 the Board to discipline Plaintiff, as Plaintiff made a "vile" complaint of discrimination against him.

15
16 31. Defendant Alloway's report, and its subsequent review by the Judges Committee, 17 violated Defendant USCA's internal policies and procedures for the discipline of judges. The 18 report was not notarized, as required by Defendant's bylaws, and the report and review suffered 19 from a conflict of interest.

20
21 32. Despite these deficiencies, the Judges Committee recommended to the Executive 22 Board that Plaintiff be suspended as a Performance Judge for a period of at least one year. Shortly
23 thereafter, the Executive Board agreed, and it issued a one-year suspension of the Plaintiff, which 24 would be published in their magazine to its members and the public.

25
26 33. Plaintiff disagreed with the findings, and he requested that Defendant USCA
27 conduct an immediate investigation, as Plaintiff believed that the actions were the result of bias, 28

1 unequal, and discriminatory treatment. Plaintiff's request was denied by the President of Defendant
2 USCA's Executive Board.

3
4 34. As a result, Plaintiff was compelled to retain legal counsel, who advised the 5 Defendants of the deficiencies contained in the disciplinary process, including the fact that the 6 report was not notarized, it was the result of a conflict of interest, and the Executive Board had 7 failed to allow Plaintiff to speak on his own behalf at the disciplinary meeting, as required by 8 Defendant's bylaws.

9
10 35. Defendants admitted that they failed to comply with their own policies and 11 procedures, and, instead of taking appropriate action, Defendants elected to retaliate against 12 Plaintiff again. On June 25, 2019, Defendant Alloway submitted his same report, but this time he 13 had the report notarized. Nothing else changed.

14
15 36. The report was again forwarded to the Judges Committee, who again recommended
16 disciplinary action to the Executive Board, which Defendant Alloway is a member.

17
18 37. The Executive Board rubber-stamped the Alloway report, and it issued a one-year
19 suspension against the Plaintiff, which was published in Defendant's website and magazine for its 20 members and the public, and Plaintiff was advised that he would not be allowed to attend the Judges
21 College, which is required for his license. During this process, the Executive Board advised
22 Plaintiff that it had considered "additional" matters that were discovered during its "investigation"
23 which apparently demonstrated that Plaintiff lacked the character and integrity to serve as a 24 Performance Judge. The Executive Board also believed that Plaintiff acted improperly when he 25 accused "Jim Alloway of being an 'anti-immigrant' and racist."

1 38. In acting above, Defendant USCA further violated its written policies and 2 procedures, when it failed to provide the required 30-day time period in which to respond to any
3 disciplinary recommendation. On both occasions that the Executive Board considered the Alloway
4 report, it failed to provide Plaintiff with the required 30-day period in which to respond.

5
6 39. The Executive Board also considered “new” or “additional” matters that were 7 apparently uncovered during its review and investigation of this matter, without complying with 8 the complaint review process.

9
10 40. Despite the fact that Defendants failed to follow their own written procedures, it
11 upheld a one-year suspension for Plaintiff, and denied his access to the Judges College, which was 12 published in its magazine and website, thus causing Plaintiff irreparable harm to his reputation, and 13 which constitutes slander per se, as it impacts Plaintiff’s occupation. Plaintiff requested that the 14 material be removed from Defendants’ publications. Defendants refused. The false allegations
15 published on the website have significantly damaged Plaintiff’s reputation in the dog training 16 community, and it has caused him both emotional distress and financial harm.

17
18 41. As a result of this action, Plaintiff is prevented from working as a Performance Judge 19 at any dog sport related event, which results in his constructive termination of his employment at 20 USCA. The adverse actions against Plaintiff were discriminatory in nature as they were based upon 21 his national origin, and they were the result of retaliation in the workplace.

22
